

DEMURE YOUNG GIRL A MASTER MARINER

Miss Jane Morgan Becomes a Full-Fledged Sea Captain.

FIRST-CLASS CERTIFICATE

Daughter of Wealthy Philadelphian
Clears From That Part for Mediterranean Cruise.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 27.—With the title of master mariner and with full authority from the United States board of engineers Miss Jane Morgan, captain, if you please—cleared this port aboard the steam yacht Warturus on Monday, bound for the North Cape and the Mediterranean. Captain Jane Morgan is a daughter of Randall Morgan, vice president of the Gas trust, and the yacht Warturus is one of the finest vessels of its class afloat.

Only five women in the world have ever qualified as master mariners with full authority to command vessels of all kinds in "all waters of the world." Miss Morgan secured her first-class certificate only a few days ago after "three years of servitude aboard ship under competent authority and the usual discipline."

Devotes All Her Time to Study.

Ambitious to secure a first-class commission Miss Morgan devoted all of her working time to the study of navigation and all that the term navigation implies. She studied the construction of ships from working plans; astronomy under savants of world-wide fame, and Captain Cushman of the Warturus made her work as no second officer aboard a pleasure yacht ever worked before. In all of this work Miss Morgan had the active interest and aggressive support of her father.

Her recent examination covered the entire subject of navigation and included the geography of the world as well as an intimate inquiry into range lights, flag signals, the use of log and lead lines and the pilot rules of the high seas.

Demure Young Woman.

Despite her many masculine accomplishments and her great love for the air and the sun and the whole wide world outdoors Miss Morgan is a most demure person and not a bit like the mannish girl of the boulevards who looks it but isn't it.

SLEPT ALL HER LIFE IN BABY TRUNDLE BED

NORTH FARMINGTON, Me., June 27.—Determined to sleep her last night on earth in the trundle bed she has slept in for all the fifty years of her life, Ann Gillan, of this place, the oldest of the "Gillan sisters," as they are known, is dying of cancer of the stomach at her home.

Ann Gillan first began to sleep in a trundle bed when only a year old, and as she grew older she refused to sleep in a larger bed, as her sisters did. Every night she pulled out the little bed from under the larger one of the other two sisters and pushed it back in the morning.

OWNER WILLS PROPERTY TO HIS FAVORITE HORSE

PARIS, June 27.—A farmer near Toulouse recently died, leaving a curious will. The document was written on the end of a shirt, and ran: "I hereby appoint as my sole heir my red horse, and I wish him to become the property of my nephew, Jules."

The nephew and other relatives brought an action to upset this will, but the court decided that the farmer was in his right mind and that the nephew, as keeper of the horse, was to have a life interest in the property.

The Watch-Dog in your Vest Pocket

YOU can buy Health Insurance now.

Several good "Accident" Companies sell it.

Sixty dollars per year will bring you $25.00 per week, for every week you are Sick.

But, your time alone may be worth far more than that.

And $200 per week might not pay for your suffering.

That's why "Cascaret" Insurance which prevents Sickness, is worth ten times as much money as other "Health" Insurance.

Yet "Cascaret Insurance" will cost you less than Ten Cents a week.

That gives you a "Vest Pocket" Box to carry constantly.

"Indigestion" means food eaten but only partially digested.

"Constipation" means food retained in the body undigested too long, till it decays.

It then supplies the poisons of decay to the system, in place of the nourishment it might have supplied.

Isn't that a tremendous handicap worth insuring against?

What does it cost to Cure Constipation or Indigestion, with their train of small and great ills, and to insure against a return of them?

Not so very much.

One 10 cent box of Cascarets per week, at most, perhaps half that.

One candy tablet night and morning, taken regularly for a short time, is warranted to cure the worst case of Constipation or Indigestion that walks the earth.

One tablet taken whenever you suspect you need it will insure you against 90 per cent of all other ills likely to attack you.

Because 90 per cent of these ills begin

SOLD CIGAR ASH AS A PATENT MEDICINE

Many Patients of Swindler Testify to Its Wonderful Curative Effects.

PARIS, June 27.—A youth named Rougier, who in his time has played many parts, was arrested yesterday on a charge of fraud.

Rougier was formerly a platewasher at a restaurant, but he was ambitious. In turn he became a chemist's assistant, banker, and "doctor." He founded a bank and lent money, but the establishment, the police say, was conducted on very questionable lines.

Some time afterward, when the banking business became monotonous, Rougier blossomed forth as an "American specialist," undertaking to cure every known complaint by means of his wonderful remedies. Treatment was by letter only, and Rougier is said to have had many clients. The remedies, it is asserted, chiefly consisted of cigar ash. Yet so extraordinary is human credulity that in his rooms were found a number of letters, written in all good faith, no doubt, by many of his patients, testifying to the marvelous curative effect of the remedies. It need hardly be said that the majority of the patients were women.

CROOM SHOTS BRIDE AT WEDDING CEREMONY

COMFORT, Tex., June 27.—In the presence of a large number of guests assembled for the wedding, Joseph Reinhardt, the groom, last night shot and killed Miss Ernestine Kuber, the bride, and then fired two bullets into his own breast. Reinhardt will probably die. So far no reason for the crime has been discovered.

First California Woman To Get Death Sentence

Mrs. Emma Ledoux Convicted of Drugging
Husband and Packing Him in Trunk.
Where He Smothered.

STOCKTON, Cal., June 27.—Mrs. Emma Ledoux, convicted Saturday of the murder of Al. art N. McVicar, has the notoriety of being the first woman in California found guilty of murder in the first degree with no recommendation for mercy upon the part of the jury.

The body of McVicar, a man weighing 180 pounds, was found packed into a trunk at the Southern Pacific depot baggage room on the evening of March 25, this year.

Suspicion Fastens on Ledoux Woman.

A quick investigation threw suspicion upon Mrs. Ledoux, who had been traveling as McVicar's wife, and within seventy-two hours she was under arrest at Antioch not many miles from the scene of the crime. It was an easy matter to find the expressman who hauled the trunk out of the hotel, where he got it, and the store where the rope that bound the trunk was bought. The expressman, hotel proprietor, and the clerk at the store identified Mrs. Ledoux. The prosecution introduced evidence to show that she had married McVicar while her first husband, Ledoux, was living, and that she wished to get rid of McVicar in order to return to Ledoux. The strongest circumstantial evidence pointed to the fact that the woman had drugged McVicar and before he was dead had rolled his body into the trunk, locked and roped it and sent for the expressman. It is now thought it was her intention to ship the trunk to some remote town and get rid of it. She missed connections at the depot and was compelled to take a train before the trunk arrived.

Man Smothered to Death.

Medical testimony showed that McVicar had smothered to death in the trunk.

Mrs. Ledoux, a frail woman weighing 102 pounds, in the face of the strongest kind of evidence, maintained her innocence to the last.

When arrested she told contradictory stories, never denying knowledge of McVicar's death. Her defense was that McVicar had taken poison and that a man named Joe Miller, no trace of whom could be found, compelled her at the point of pistol to put McVicar's body into the trunk.

July 9 has been selected as the day for the sentence and Mrs. Ledoux' attorneys have given notice of appeal.

CHILD'S PLEADING WON THIEF'S PITY

PARIS, June 27.—A case has been reported to the police in which the pleading of a girl of eleven softened the heart of a burglar bent on murder at Creteil.

Mme. Rollet and the girl, who is her niece, were awakened by an unusual noise and were alarmed to see a man stride into their room. The woman screamed, and the burglar gripped her by the throat and struck her with a knife.

The terrified child fell at the burglar's feet, imploring him to spare her aunt's life.

The man thereon sat on the edge of their bed and told them he had been forced to turn burglar because he could not get honest employment. He assured Mme. Rollet and her niece that no harm should befall them if they kept quiet while two of his friends below collected the "rag."

The burglar then got the water basin and carefully washed the blood from Mme. Rollet's wound. He applied bandages and with a bow left the room and went away with his companions.
